

Cornell University
Department of Economics

Worksheet for the Economics Major under the NEW Requirements

We have prepared this worksheet to help students check off the requirements of the Economics Major. Please remember:
In the end, you must complete 12 Econ courses and have credit for MATH 1110. See page 2 for further details.

(A) Introductory Courses	Number of Courses
(credit must appear on transcript)
ECON 1110
ECON 1120
	(A) Total:
(B) Intermediate Courses
ECON 3030
ECON 3040
	(B) Total:
(C) Statistics
ECON 3110
ECON 3130	OR
Econometrics
ECON 3120
ECON 3140	OR
	(C) Total:
(D) Three 4000-Level Courses ¹
	(D) Total:
(E) Additional 3000-Level or 4000-Level Economics Electives
(must take enough so sum of all courses is 12)
	(E) Total:
	Total Courses: /12

¹ Econ 4990-4991, which is the two-semester honors sequence, can count as one course toward the twelve-course requirement.

List these together as one course in category (E). They do not count as a 4000-level course.

Additional Information

Econ 1110 or Econ 1120 will count toward the Economics Major only if credit for the course appears on your Cornell transcript.

- Students who matriculated at Cornell before June 1, 2017 must have grades of C or better in ECON 1110, ECON 1120, and MATH 1110 (or equivalents).
- Students who matriculated at Cornell after June 1, 2017 must have grades of B- or better in ECON 1110 and ECON 1120 (or equivalents) and a grade of C or better in MATH 1110 (or equivalent).

Econ 4990-4991, which is the two-semester honors sequence, can count as one course toward the twelve-course requirement. List these together as one course in category (E).

Courses taken in categories (B) and (C) must be taken at Cornell.

For courses taken in categories (B)-(E), at least 8 of these courses must be taken at Cornell. The only exception is if you participate in a Cornell-sanctioned two-semester Study Abroad program, in which case at least 6 of these courses must be taken at Cornell (with at most 2 taken as non-Study-Abroad courses at another university). (Note: To obtain Economics Major credit for courses taken away from Cornell, including Study Abroad, you must get approval from the Director of Undergraduate Studies.)

 Economics courses taken through Cornell Winter Session, Cornell Summer Session, or Cornell in Washington count as being taken at Cornell. Economics courses taken in a Cornell-sanctioned Study Abroad program or at another university, do NOT count as being taken at Cornell.

For students who transfer into Cornell with advanced standing:

For courses in categories (B) and (C), Economics courses taken at your prior institution prior to your enrollment at Cornell and approved by the Director of Undergraduate Studies to count toward the Cornell Economics Major will count as being taken at Cornell.

For courses taken in categories (B)-(E), at least 4 of these courses must be taken during Cornell regular sessions, Cornell Winter Session, Cornell Summer Session, or Cornell in Washington. Please note that Economics courses taken at your prior institution do not count toward this requirement.